

Pregnancy

NEW

Nestlé® MOM™

Nestlé® MOM™

Nestlé® MOM™ is a delicious formulated milk powder specially designed for pregnancy and lactation, giving both you and the little one inside you the right nutrition for healthy development.

Product highlights

When you're pregnant, it's important to have enough nutrients, as you are the main source of nutrients for the little one growing inside you. Nestlé® MOM™ contains a combination of prebiotic (FOS), A2 milk protein and other important nutrients which are specially formulated to meet your needs and those of your developing child to support growth and development.

Features & benefits

- Prebiotic (FOS) for good gut health
 - Promotes the growth of good Bifidus bacteria to help maintain a good intestinal environment that may help alleviate constipation¹
- Naturally easy to digest A2 Milk Protein
 - Research shows less GI discomfort symptoms after consumption of A2 milk compared to regular milk²
- High in folic acid and calcium
 - Folic acid is important for growth and division of cells while calcium supports strong bones and teeth.
- DHA
 - Important nutrient during this critical development period
- 0% sucrose
 - Made with 100% lactose
 - Help support blood sugar management
- Less fat
 - 57% less fat (per 100g) compared to previous formula (Nestlé® Mom & Me®).
 - Support maternal weight management

References:

1. Jonni S et al. 2017; Kubota T et al. 2013
2. He et al. 2017

How to prepare

Add 8 leveled scoops (49g) of powder to 210ml of lukewarm water and stir well.

How and when to introduce

1 servings* / day for pregnancy and lactation

Or as recommended by your healthcare professional based on your nutritional status.*